

My new country shirt

By: rokonela

<http://www.burdastyle.com/techniques/my-new-country-shirt>

My boyfriend bought this shirt from an outlet at a very low price, after wearing it once he said I don't like it anymore and it hanged for more then an year in the closet. When he reorganized his dresser he wanted to throw it away. When he bought the shirt I loved it's cowboy look, and then I thought the cowboy look works for girls too. Voala my boyfriend's shirt remake. My new country shirt.

Step 1 — before

This is the graphic design of how the shirt looked like before. I don't have a picture, but the difference is that now it's slimmer and fitted to my size.

Step 2 — cutting

I have cut the sleeves out.

Step 3 — resizing and transforming

I have resized the pattern using another shirt I had. I have cut the excess fabric. The sleeves were too big and I have sewed them to my size. I have made 2 darts in front and 2 at the back to make the shirt slimmer.

Step 4 — sewing

I have sewed the darts in front and back. I have sewed back the sleeves and finish.

Step 5 — after

I hope you like it.

BurdaStyle

My new country shirt