Hi everyone! I want to share a tutorial with you that I just posted on my blog the curious kiwi I use Adobe Photoshop to transform pattern line drawings with photographs of my fabrics to get a little taste of the end result. Itâ– s not as hard as it looks and for those of you who donâ– t own Photoshop I am currently writing part two which explains how to do get the same result using a free program called Gimp – I'll post that up here to when I am done.

Step 1 — Jump over to my blog to read the tutorial
