

How to make a Sleeve Board

By: kaitui-kiwi

<http://www.burdastyle.com/techniques/how-to-make-a-sleeve-board>

I don't tend to make official New Years Resolutions but this year I do want to spend more effort in finishing of my garments in order to finally crack that elusive rtw look, which we all know is the antithesis of the home-made look. A big part of achieving this is good pressing, something I am pretty good at but I still need a bit of help in the form of some sewing gadgets and I love a good sewing gadget! The first of these new gadgets was to be a sleeve board. I discovered while making my Gok coat the difficulty of pressing long sleeve seams without one means I am always creating two outer creases that can be hard to remove later on. A rolled up towel will only suffice for so long therefore a sleeve board has been on the menu since then.

Step 1 — Step 1

Please visit my
"blog":<http://thecuriouskiwi.wordpress.com/2012/01/19/mission-complete-pressing-equipment/> for the pattern download and instructions for making your Sleeve Board.

BurdaStyle

How to make a Sleeve Board