

Banana Bag DIY

By: burdastyle

<http://www.burdastyle.com/techniques/banana-bag-diy>

Fruit accents are seen everywhere on garments and accessories! Follow this tutorial on how to turn a boring white bag into a fun and colorful banana bag.

Step 1 — Stencils

Save the banana stencil image above, and print out on paper. Trace the full-size patterns for the spray-paint stencils (large and small banana).

Step 2 — Trace on cardboard

Trace each pattern twice onto cardboard. With the craft knife cut out the whole banana once and once just the area of the black shadow. Glue paper strips to all sides of each stencil to make it slightly larger than the bag — this protects the bag from paint spots. Cover the work surface generously with newspaper and lay a thick layer of newspaper in the bag.

Step 3 — Yellow paint

With the yellow paint and using the stencil, spray paint the bananas onto the fabric. Carefully remove and allow to dry at least 3 to 4 minutes. Let the paint dry thoroughly between the individual sprayings.

Step 4 — Black contour

With the contour template and using the black spray paint, spray over the bananas to get their 3-D effect. Subsequently allow to dry thoroughly.

Step 5 — Little Bananas

Use the smaller banana template and the yellow spray paint to scatter little bananas over the bag.

BurdaStyle

Banana Bag DIY