Here's a quick and pretty easy way to refashion a plain tshirt.

Step 1 — Materials

Pick an old tshirt and lace.

Step 2 — cut off side seams

Mark the width of the insert and cut off the side seams. Donâ’ t forget to think of the seam allowance before cutting of the sides. Add seam allowance to the lace part as well.

Step 3 — Cut out lace

Cut out the lace using the cut off side seams as a pattern.

Step 4 — setting in the lace

Start setting in the lace at the sleeves. Use a straight stretch stitch.

Step 5 — Add topstitching

Topstitch approximately 0.5cm next to the seam to secure your seam allowance in place and prevent it from being seen through the lace. When topstitching, donâ€™t backstitch. Instead, use a needle to pull the top thread through the fabric, then fasten with knots.
